ITS POWER GONE, JAPAN JUST PICTURESQUE

IN MEDIEVAL trappings, here's defeated Japan's former war lord, Hirohito, himself. No ruler in all history ever fell from a higher pedestal. The mikado was called the Son of Heaven and was worshipped as a deity on earth.

PASSING a young student in the uniform of Tokyo University the most darling of this trio of Nipponese beauties ventures to look in his direction but he doesn't say anything in the nature of "yoo-hoo." Japanese youth now has plenty of peaceful opportunity to turn its thoughts from war to love.

DESPITE ATOMIC bombs enough of Tokyo was left to give this peddler of singing insects a place to sell his wares. To the Japanese these "mushi-uri" have a song as pleasant as that of a canary. In late August there was an insect festival and numbers of these insects were freed by worshippers in the grounds of certain temples.

HERE'S A SAMPLE of the extremely youthful cannon fodder the Japs threw into the fray. This lad was wounded on Okinawa and perhaps guessing the mikado and all Japan would surrender gave up, too.

IN THE HARD times of peace thrift will still have to be one of the major Japanese virtues. These girls from Shimoda on Tokyo bay are helping out the fuel situation by collecting driftwood.

THIS IS THE GINZA, pre-war Tokyo's Fifth Avenue and finest shopping thoroughfare. Because of Japanese imitativeness the building was a department store much like such stores elsewhere.

CLAD IN the finest silks, here's a pair of Japan's famous Geisha girls in Yokohama, once a port of call for the passenger ships from Canada. Even in a much changed new Japan there'll be Geisha girls.

HORSE ARCHERY or Yabusame was one of the ancient sports of Japan and contests were held every November on the anniversary of the Emperor Meiji. An expert with a long-bow in accoutrements such as were used centuries ago sets out for the tournament.

FIGHTING RAGING FOREST FIRES IS REAL DRAMA

THE FIRE DEMON is seen at his terrifying worst in a forest conflagration and the present dry season has already been responsible for some big blazes in Northern Ontario. Here, from above, is a view of the tragic desolation in the wake of a roaring stream of fire.

THE PRICE of forest safety is eternal vigilance by watch tower observation and plane patrol. Here in a high tower on a mountain top an observer spots a pin point of flame that if left unchecked can turn many thousands of acres to an inferno.

WITH AN ALDADE, a watcher, like a gunner getting the range of a target, scrutinizes the map on his table to get the azimuth or bearing of a patch of fire in the forest. He will be able to direct the fire-fighting ground crews to the exact location.

THIS WAS more or less merely a ground fire in scrub bush but it blackened more than 1,000 acres before it was brought under control. In this case the fire-fighters are using chemical pack tanks to douse the underbrush. Often they run long lines of hose to a nearby water supply and employ stirrup pumps or portable gasoline pumps. Picnickers, campers, anglers, and later on in the fall, hunters get blamed for many blazes, but lightning, too, plays an important part. Often a bottle will turn into a burning glass.

CANADIANS HAIL "V-J" DAY

ACCOMPANIED BY loud cheering from Canadian service personnel, a pasty-faced effigy of Hiram is seen about to take "the swing shift" on a "necking" party. Two smiling CWACs slip the hangman's noose into place.

NO SLIGHT cause for rejoicing prompted the Chinese community in Toronto whose loved ones in the homeland have suffered the most protracted phase of World War II. They bring out all ancestral ceremonial costumes.

SYMBOLIC of Canada rejoicing with the news of final victory is this scene at the capital, showing the elated crowds milling happily about against the background of parliament, seat of our democratic life.

ARIZONA'S NATIVES, THE PEOPLE OF THE SUN

THE NAVAJOS, the tribe to which this girl caressing her pet lamb belongs, constitute one-half of the state of Arizona's 50,000 Indians. They are nomads, who graze large flocks of sheep and goats over great distances.

THE 50 TRIBES of Arizona aborigines lend themselves superbly to portraiture. Main tribes are Navajos, Hopis, Apaches, all famous, but Joseph Miller, authority on the state's Indians, has made fine studies also of the less known but equally picturesque Havasupai, Hualpai, Yaquis, Paiutes, Pimas and Cocopahs, and also written a book, "Arizona Indians."

IN THE SHELTER of their mound-shaped mud and log hut called a "hogan" this Navajo mother and her stepping-stone brood sit at dinner around an outdoor camp fire. Their hogans are burned when inmates die.

IN YOUTH the Navajos have features finely sculptured like rocks. From a windswept height this youthful herder watches the flock.

New Season, New SLIMNESS

Look for new, rounded lines on shoulders and hips... for deep-set, full sleeves on this year's smart fashions... but remember, it's slimmest that wears them best!

If you need slimming, write us for the famous "Kellogg Weight Control Plan," a handy little purse-size 20-page guide, giving just the specific details you need. These include 3 special sets of scientifically balanced menus for every meal, every day of the week; also the new insurance weight tables for every type of body frame and how to tell which one to follow.

You will find Kellogg's All-Bran an important food to eat daily, in this and any diet to help you gain and keep a lovely, youthful figure. First, because All-Bran is guaranteed, on a double-your-money-back basis, to help you keep regular naturally — and this is always important.

Equally important, and this may surprise you, All-Bran is made only from the vital outer layers of the wheat grain so remarkably rich in many of the "protective" food elements your body must have every day... diet or no diet.

For example, a one-ounce dish of All-Bran at breakfast provides you with more than one-third your daily minimum need of iron. And you sap your vitality, your very joy in life, if your daily diet fails to furnish you with enough of this mineral to maintain the proper "iron-level" in your blood.

No wonder this delicious cereal is served by nearly one out of every two families in Canada. Order a package today. Your grocer has All-Bran in 2 convenient sizes.

P.S. ...To get the "Kellogg Weight Control Plan," cut the box-top from your All-Bran package; print your name, address and request on its back and mail to the Kellogg Co. of Canada, Ltd., London, Ontario, Dept. 17.

Rounded shoulders, deep sleeves balanced by the nipped-in waist make the new look of a coral-and-black suit designed by Kivieté of New York.

MONUMENT VALLEY, approached through this tremendous opening in the surrounding wall of rock, is one of the favorite grazing grounds of the sheep-herding Navajos who make from the wool blankets famous for gorgeous color and artistic design. Here a small boy keeps an eye on a flock.

A HOPÍ is the subject of this fine portrait. They are Arizona's only pueblo-dwelling Indians. The population of their adobe and rock villages is less than 3,000. Their Snake Dance, an annual prayer for rain, attracts large numbers of tourists. In the dance live rattlesnakes are handled.

THIS APACHE lady looks peaceful enough but white men once trembled at the tribe's very name. They were the terror of the west and even more fierce than the Iroquois. They are relatives of Canada's far north Athabaskans.

Chatham, Ontario, painted by J. S. Hallam, A.R.C.A., O.S.A., after an early sketch in the John Ross Robertson Collection, Toronto Public Libraries.

"Chatham ON THE THAMES"

"The first view of the beautiful little town of Chatham made my sinking spirits bound like the sight of a friend . . ."

Thus wrote Mrs. Anna Jameson, well-known authoress of one hundred years ago, describing her arduous trip from Port Talbot. And in spite of the passing of a century, that aura of friendliness still greets the visitor to Chatham.

First chosen as a townsite by Governor Simcoe because of its strategic position at the confluence of the Thames River and McGregor Creek, Chatham started life as a shipyard and a blockhouse on the river's bank.

On the military reserve, now Tecumseh Park, the pioneers with the assistance of Tecumseh's Indians in October, 1813, gallantly defended the settlement against Harrison's Kentuckians. After the coming of peace the growth of the frontier settlement was sure and steady. Thus the early pioneers gave an example of fighting spirit and progressive faith in the future that is today followed by our gallant young Canadians.

Today, after a century of progress, Chatham stands, busy, industrious, but still the friendly, smiling place that Mrs. Jameson wrote about.

Chatham has contributed generously in fighting men, material, and financial resources to the winning of two world wars . . . and Chatham is part of the Canadian way of life . . . of progress and prosperity built on the strong foundations of the past, reaching to the ever-expanding future that is called Canada Unlimited. Our mark of faith in that future is seen in the Victory Bonds we buy and hold—for they are our share of the great Tomorrow.

MIRROR-MINDED STUDENT

UPSIDE DOWN reading may be hard for some people, but it doesn't seem to faze ten-year-old Jerry Myracle Derryberry of West Tennessee. Jerry found great difficulty in reading in the conventional style. He preferred the upside down, right to left, bottom to top type of reading.

JERRY LEARNED to write correctly first in sand and finally on paper. He started with a patch over one eye, and has made good progress since he started classes at the Peabody Child Study Clinic several months ago.

TORONTO'S "SCHOOL-MARM" BEAUTY

HERE IS Miss Toronto of 1945. She is tall, statuesque, brunette Kaye Ireland and she's on the occasional teaching staff of the Toronto school board. Last year she taught at the little one-room schoolhouse at Campbellville, Ontario. In this picture, Miss Toronto seems engrossed in her lesson in geography, while her little pupil ignores the globe and seems to have eyes only for the pretty teacher.

MISS TORONTO is a very talented young lady, and here she is shown pursuing her favorite hobby of sketching. Locale is the picturesque surroundings of Toronto's Casa Loma.

ACTION IN THE PACIFIC WAR

THE DEATH DIVE of this Japanese suicide plane is marked by a trail of smoke and flame, following a vain attempt to crash into an Allied escort carrier in the Pacific. Known as kamikaze planes, and flown by fanatical pilots, the Japanese version of the German V-weapons requires the pilot to stay with the aircraft until it strikes the target. Such suicide tactics have taken their toll of Allied shipping but many kamikaze pilots have been shot out of the sky before they ever reached their targets. The kamikaze planes, virtually all bomb, are powered by jets.

SUPPLIES BEING landed for American forces on Okinawa, only 350 miles from the Japanese mainland. Okinawa was a Jap bastion in the Ryukyus island group. Japan sacrificed thousands of troops in a vain attempt to ward off the Okinawa invasion and the battle for the island developed into one of the toughest of the Pacific war. In spite of repeated kamikaze attacks the Americans continued to build up great strength there. The island base has been used extensively by the U.S. air force.

FACIAL STUDIES OF DOGS, HIPPO

DOGS DON'T need speech as long as they have such powers of facial expression. A mournful look such as the dog above puts on may, of course, merely mean that he's begging for a titbit from the table. The collie to the right of him is having a quite hearty laugh at something or somebody. He'd be off in a flash if told to fetch the cows.

"I'll show the boy who's boss around here!"

1. I'd just come home from my charity work and it was upsetting to find such a scene. There was Bob, my good-natured husband, with the hairbrush all ready, while little Tommy insisted tearfully that he wouldn't take "that nasty stuff." "See what I mean?" said Bob. "Well, he'll take his laxative or I'll know the reason why!"

2. "Maybe," I said, "our whole trouble is that we don't know the reason why... and we ought to find out. I'll phone my sister Gwen and see what she has to say. With four children of her own, she'll probably know."

3. Gwen's explanation seemed sensible to me. "It's wrong," she said, "to force bad-tasting medicine on a child. Why not do what my doctor suggested years ago? Get Castoria. It has a pleasant taste, so there's no need for forcing. Children like it."

4. "And there's our answer, Bob," I explained. "Castoria is made especially for children. It's pleasant-tasting—and not harsh or upsetting as an adult laxative might be. It's mild and gentle, yet effective."

5. So we went shopping together, Bob and I, and our druggist praised Castoria, too. "I always advise it," he said, "for children from infancy up to 10 years. And I recommend that you get the money-saving Family Size bottle."

6. Well! You should have seen the difference when we got home. Tommy took his Castoria—and loved it! Bob grinned sheepishly and remarked "Guess there's no need for any less in this house now that we've discovered Castoria!"

A MOUNTIE visits a sheep camp near Calgary. Sheep grazing on government land need to be checked from time to time to see that they don't stray over to another range not allotted to them. Although automobiles in the R.C.M.P. outnumber horses by more than five to one, horses still play an important role in the work of the force. spicy flavour.

HEINZ TOMATO JUICE is the longest of appetizers . . . pure, wholesome, refreshing, packed with vitamins.

HEINZ CONDENSED CREAM OF TOMATO SOUP is a nourishing dish by itself, and a wonderful ingredient in economy left-over dishes.

Superb as a soup or as a base for any number of sauces and dishes, old and new, Heinz Condensed Cream of Tomato Soup is a great family favourite.

Here is the garden-fresh, mouth-watering flavour of Heinz Aristocrat tomatoes, picked, cooked and packed in a few hours to seal in precious vitamins.

Steaks, chops, stews and left-overs all taste twice as tempting when glorified with a liberal dash of Heinz Tomato Ketchup.

You can easily afford this spicy, full-bodied condiment, because every drop is so rich and thick that a little goes a long way at small cost.

DANCING THE NEW UPSEDAISY IS STRENUOUS FUN

A GIRL IS literally swept off her feet by the new Upseidaisy, topsyturvy dance in which gentlemen swing their partners even more vigorously than in old barn hoedowns.

THIS FEATURE, it can safely be said, is found in no other dance. It is hard on the male partner but gives a girl a chance to rest her tired feet and even snooze.

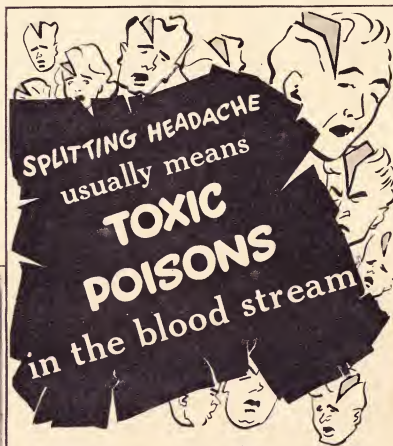

THE STRESS IS on the up in the Upseidaisy and it is no dance for a young fellow who can't support a girl, or for a girl either who doesn't like to kick heels. It has something.

Your future and your fortune both will be helped by Dura-Gloss nail polish, as gay and brilliant as the most precious jewelry.

WITH ROD AND REEL

HAPPINESS is unbounded when a dandy like this gets on the line. It was caught in Lake Temiskaming, Ontario. The little lady on the right doesn't appear to enjoy baiting a hook with a wriggly worm.

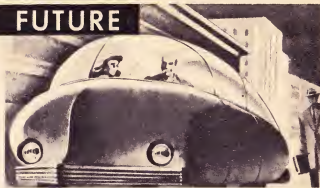

SURF-CASTING is a popular sport at Long Beach, California. Here, fishermen with heavy-duty rods, cast into the briny deep.

AN EYE TO THE FUTURE

ON VACATION today, this charming young lady has an eye to the future too. She's storing up sunshine and health to carry her through a busy Fall and Winter. Wise motorists, too, are caring for their cars' health with Peerless, B-A's amazing new 5-point process motor oil ... "It's Allied!"

A PEEK AT TOMORROW'S MODEL? It may be a year yet before the manufacturers can put to use all that the war has taught them in the use of light metal alloys. But of one thing we can be sure, the more modern the car the greater the need of a really modern lubricating oil! And Peerless Motor Oil is modern.

WITH AN EYE TO THE FUTURE, indeed, B-A designed and built Canada's completely up-to-the-minute lubricating oil refinery. Here from specially selected lubricating crudes is manufactured Peerless Motor Oil, the premium quality oil at a popular price!

FORECASTING SNOW. In our Canadian climate a safe bet is that the first heavy snows are not too far away. Peerless Motor Oil, with its high V.I. and low pour point is the outstanding cold-weather oil!

YOUR CITY'S FUTURE, experts say, may depend on the kind of Airport facilities provided, now! Your car's future most certainly depends on the care you give it, now. Switch to Peerless, the oil that's allied to keep repair costs down, cars running longer!

"It's Allied"

Just as the finest steel rusts when exposed to atmosphere unless it is alloyed with chromium and nickel to make stainless steel, so the finest lubricating oil may oxidize under heat and pressure forming sludge deposits which cause clogged piston rings, valve sticking, bearing failure. Because 'It's Allied,' Peerless Motor Oil is protected against this tendency. For longer engine life, lower repair costs, change now to B-A Peerless Motor Oil, the premium quality oil at a popular price!

When he says "I've enjoyed meeting you"—should you say?

- ☐ "Thank you!"
☐ "Some to you!"
☐ "Likewise!"

You may feel that the pleasure is all yours—but only a goobrain would say so. A gracious "Thank you" suffices. (Your tone can tell him it's mutual.) Reserve is becoming. Keep a secret or two. There's one secret that's little-proof—when you trust to Kotex on trying days. Because only Kotex has patented, flat tapered ends that don't show. Strictly out of this world compared to thick, stubby pads. Kotex's flat pressed ends don't cause revealing outlines. So... with Kotex, no one will know.

You can be confident...

Kotex Wonderform Belt makes your comfort complete; holds Kotex absolutely secure with special patented clasps that are flat and inconspicuous. It's clean, light, self-balancing, adjustable, pinless. Kotex Wonderform Belt... only .25c.

Only Kotex gives you this plus protection—with the patented i-ply safety centre you can be sure of avoiding accidents! That's why problem days aren't problems—when you choose Kotex!

How to brighten those blinkers?

- ☐ Read the funny papers
☐ Moosh Mom's masquerade
☐ Quack, Watson—the eye pads

Dreary-eyed? When you want to be starry-eyed? Just rest your lids beneath a pair of moist eye pads. Jiffy-quick, their soothing liquid eases the ache—brings back the twinkle to tired optics. Comfort and "sparkle" are first cousins. That's why, on certain days, so many bright young chicks insist on Kotex sanitary napkins. For Kotex has dependable softness. Unlike pads that just "feel" soft at first touch, Kotex is made to stay soft while wearing. Free from lurching, roping, you're far more comfortable with Kotex.

THIS young Indian woman of Mitla, Mexico, is proud of her jewelry. She wears the original costume of that region and the "reboso," typical head-cloth. Shown at right is a Mexican tank commander in modern battle gear. Also joined in the fight against the Japs is Mexico's air force, which has seen action in the Pacific.

A DAY'S TOIL done tending his herd, this little Mexican shepherd lad takes his ease beside a small lake. Also enjoying a rest is the pet he has chosen from the herd.

BURNED TO the ground in the Indian uprising of 1695, this Mexican church in San Ignacio was rebuilt a few years later, and is in much better repair than most of Mexico's older churches. The bold architecture of the old mission is clearly seen in the picture above. A young Mexican lad is busy with his chores and three ladies of the village sun themselves in the church's entrance. Two men of the town, shown at right, stop to pass the time of day, with typical Mexican hats keeping off the blazing afternoon sun. The mission is in the background.

SOFT DRINKS are delivered by this ingenious donkey-rock method in Yecapixtla, in Morelos province on the southern slope of the famous great Mexican tableland.

TWISTS IN AQUATIC EQUILIBRIUM

SHOOTING into space from the skid at left, water-tobogganists fly through the air in Florida's newest sport. These high school enthusiasts claim it is an improvement on the old-fashioned aquaplane.

LOG-ROLLING is not a job for amateurs. In this scene at the annual log-rolling contests held in California recently, two veteran rollers ride the treacherous log, trying to roll each other off it.

SPLASH! That's Charlie Wood taking a header into the drink, with fellow lumberjack Frank Ross keeping his balance on the whirling log very much similar to a circus performer walking the tight rope.

A UNIQUE "sailfish" aquaplane provides water sport for this Miami, Florida, girl.

HERE IT'S SPRING TIME

THIS IS SPRING music and a performer has to be even more agile than in more humdrum swing. It can be said the great Paganini never rose to heights like this.

TESTING out the bed before he woos sleep, the boy finds that there certainly isn't anything wrong with the springs. Still it is a dangerous kind of action for a nightmare.
